CREEMORE SPRINGS PARIS TO ANCASTER BICYCLE RACE

From the Bike to the Bobsleigh

Kelsey Mitchell on Her Cycling Journey and Plans for the 2026 Winter Olympics

We had the privilege to talk to Olympic Cycling Gold Medalist, Kelsey Mitchell, about her experience starting her cycling journey to becoming an Olympic champion.

After competing in Paris 2024, Kelsey took some time to rehab her body back in Calgary, Alberta.

Soon after, Kelsey was approached by the Canadian bobsleigh team-- the very team that Kelsey had actually tried out for 10 years earlier. Kelsey's transition from biking to bobsleigh marks an exciting chapter in her athletic journey. Utilizing her power and focus she honed during her cycling career, she is now channeling that same drive toward accomplishing a rare feat--becoming a Summer and Winter Olympian.

Despite her new pursuit, cycling still remains close to Kelsey's heart. She talks about her experience as a spectator at Paris to Ancaster and her future plans to potentially participate in the future!
